

Frederick Douglass Day

Saturday, September 24, 2016

Join us in celebration of Talbot County's most famous native son, Frederick Douglass... slave, author, statesman, a lifelong champion of equal rights and justice, and a man who influenced peer and presidents alike during a tumultuous time in our nation's history.

10:30am to 4pm - West Street in Easton
(between Dover & Federal)
Highlights Include:

- Welcome Ceremony (Front Lawn at the Talbot County Courthouse)
- Historically Oriented Amazing Race, Children's Village, Knowledge Village, and Food & Retail Vendors
- Speech by Frederick Douglass (Portrayed by Terron Quailes)
- Lecture by David W. Blight, Professor and Director of Gilder Lehrman Center for the Study of Slavery, Resistance & Abolition, at Yale University (Talbot County Free Library)
- Lecture by John Stauffer, Professor of English and African American Studies at Harvard University (Talbot County Free Library)
- Music by Terron Quailes, BAAM, Voices of Worship, and the Easton High School and Easton Middle School Bands
- 2-Hour Street Concert by the XPD's, one of the best bands in the Metropolitan Area
- Guided Walking Tour of Easton's historic neighborhood, "The Hill"

All Frederick Douglass Day Events Are Free and Open to the Public

Frederick Douglass is presented by the Town of Easton, Frederick Douglass Honor Society, and the Talbot County Free Library
www.FrederickDouglassDay.com

